Three New Buildings Here If Budget Request OK'd

Gymnasium, Industrial Arts Building and Classrooms Included

Funds for the construction of three new buildings have been requested by EMC as part of the 1959-60 capital outlay budget, President Eugene B. Elliott announced Saturday.

The request is for money for a classroom addition to Strong Physical Science Building, a physical education building, and a new fine and industrial arts structure.

The college asked for these funds as part of its $3,118,540 capital outlay budget submitted to the State Budget Division for submission to the legislature.

In addition, money is being sought for the planning of a teacher education building and an instructional services building.

President Elliott pointed out that the college is nearing its optimum utilization of present buildings. Many of them, he said, are obsolete for present programs and expensive and difficult to operate.

Construction started in 1959-60 will not be completed before 1961-62. The president noted that, unless the college can start constructing new plant in the immediate future, it will be unable to accept any substantial enrollment increases.

Total cost of the addition to Strong will be $1,100,000. The physical education building will cost $1,600,000, and the arts building, $1,500,000.

In its five-year, long range capital outlay request, the college included plans for other new structures. Among them is a liberal arts building and an addition to the library.

An English and speech building and a biological science structure are also included in the long range plans. Requests for funds to remodel and rehabilitate many of the older existing campus buildings were made at the same time.

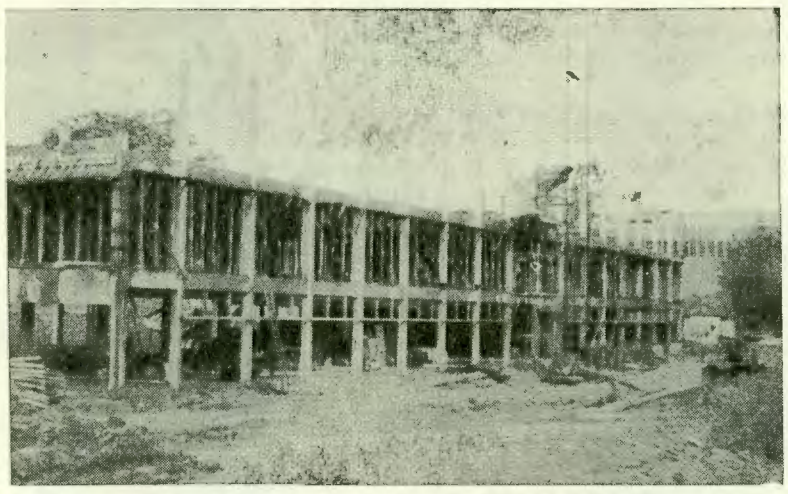
The financial breakdown of the budget request follows: Of the total amount requested, $2,910,000 is for new construction alone; $105,390 is for remodeling and additions, and $103,150 for special maintenance projects.

Queen Talent On View Next Sunday

The Queen's Talent Show, an all-campus event, will be held on Sunday, October 5, at 8:00 p.m. at Roosevelt Auditorium, the Homecoming Committee announced.

Today, candidates will be eliminated down to ten finalists in the Women's Lounge of McKenny Hall.

Pictures of these ten finalists will be taken in McKenny Hall on Friday, October 3, from 1:00 through 4:00 p.m. by Mrs. Lawrence.



Work Progressing on Health Center

CONSTRUCTION ON EASTERN Michigan College's new Glenaidne C. Snow Health Service building is steadily moving forward to meet next year's deadline for opening. The three story building is designed to serve 6,000 full time EMC students and includes facilities for minor surgery, 20 observation rooms and a solarium. There will be in-patient facilities for from 26 to 40 students.

Munson Hall Residents Begin Casting For Movie on "Life in a Dormitory"

A 25-minute color motion picture on life in a residence hall is the massive project being undertaken by residents of Munson Hall this semester.

Planned as part of the hall's Homecoming activities, production of the film should get underway this week after casting for various roles is completed.

The film will be shown to members of the faculty and to new students during orientation week in January, after having its campus premiere during the Homecoming weekend. "Its most valuable aspect," said hall council officers, "is to give new students a better understanding of dorm life here on the campus of Eastern Michigan College."

Idea for filming the motion picture originated from Greg Surdacki, vice president of Munson Hall, who got the plans while attending summer school.

The script for the film, which is, for the most part, satirical, was written by Leonard Dinkin, another Munson Hall resident. Dinkin is also responsible for production and direction of the film. Title of the movie is "The Great Munsonians."

STAFF MEETING

An Eastern Echo staff meeting will be held at 4:15 this afternoon in the Echo office on the third floor of McKenny Hall.

Any student interested in working as a reporter is invited to attend.

Fund Raising Projects Made Easier For Organizations, College Announces

The policy regarding fund raising projects at EMC has been clarified and made more flexable, Mr. Bernard M. Treado, chairman of the Student Activities Committee, has announced.

The newly accepted policy allows college organizations to raise money through activities or projects on campus, provided they meet certain requirements.

All such projects must be presented to the Student Council for approval, and then registered on the College Activities Calendar with the Director of Social Activities.

The Dean of Student Activities will establish a system of rotation to determine which organizations conduct concessions at the college, so that all student organizations will have an equal right to these projects.

When a project has been completed, a report, including a financial statement, must be filed with the Dean of Student Activities within fourteen days.

The only other requirements are as follows: the activities must not violate any law, ordinance, or college regulation; and the funds must not be used for any purpose in violation of these rules. Also, the projects must be conducted so that they are not detrimental to the health, welfare, or educational progress of the students.

These rules were accepted by President Eugene B. Elliot on June 2, 1958. They were previously approved by the Student Activities Committee, the Faculty Council, and the President's Policy Council.

Student Council To Meet October 7

The first meeting for the year of the EMC Student Council will be held next Tuesday, October 7, President Joe Rippetoe announced this week.

All EMC students are invited to attend Council meetings, which are open. Tuesday's meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the general lounge at McKenny Hall.

In order to make Council meetings "more efficient and so that the meetings will not last too long," Rippetoe said an agenda will be sent to all council members before this meeting.

He urged all council members to attend.

"Crash Program" For Polio Shots Begins at EMC

Prompted by the current polio epidemic in the Detroit area, the EMC Health Residence has announced a new schedule of hours to make imunization shots more readily available.

The new schedule, which provides a wider range of hours during which shots can be given, is as follows: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, from 1:00 until 4:00 p.m.; and Thursday and Friday, from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

The immunization program is voluntary, but students and staff members may begin or continue their series of immunization shots through the Health Service at the special rate of one dollar per shot.

College Tries New Ideas In Study Help

An experimental, three point effort aimed at raising the academic standing among men at Eastern Michigan College is underway this fall. The program is based in part on the planning and work of the men students themselves.

Associate Dean of Men William Crane said today that the program was being given special impetus this year with the distribution to the 700 men living in college residences of a new six page, 5,000 word study guide.

"We are planning a limited distribution of the guide this year because it's still somewhat experimental," he reported. "If and when it proves useful, then a more general distribution will be made."

Divided into eight sections, the study guide gives explicit detailed suggestions on program planning of time, organizing studies, making the most of classroom experience, varying reading habits, theme writing, and preparing for examinations.

One of the points emphasized in the study guide is that "an increased emphasis upon scholarship is visible in almost all areas of college work. More work is being demanded and better quality of work is expected than would be the case if the demand for a college education were not so great."

"Busman's Holiday" Is Theme of Friday Night's All-Campus Dance

Eastern Michigan College students will gather for a "Busman's Holiday" this Friday night, October 3, when the All-Campus Social Committee sponsors a college wide dance.

Disc jockey John Small of WPAG in Ann Arbor will emcee the event and spin the platters, and top Epic recording stars, The Skee Brothers, will be on hand for an intermission show. John, an EMC junior who will move to station WOIA next week, and The Skee Brothers were teamed during the college Varsity Jamboree during Orientation Week earlier this month.

Free records will be given away and admission to the event is also free. Dress for the "Busman's Holiday" — the theme of the dance — is casual, according to Karen Eichhorn, Social Committee chairman of the function.

The dance starts at 9:00 p.m. and will be over at midnight in the McKenny Hall ballroom. All students and guests are welcome.

Weekly Official Bulletin

Publication of any notice in the Weekly Official Bulletin is to be considered official notification for all members of the college community. All persons are responsible for reading the bulletin each week.

Student Teacher Personnel Blank should be retained by the student and filed with the lab school director at the time the assignment is made.

Charles Rice, Coordinator of Student Teaching

Polio Immunization

Please note new times available for polio immunization in the College Health Service.

Previously, immunization was available from 1-4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The new schedule provides for polio immunization 1-4 p.m., Monday through Wednesday, and from 9-12 noon on Thursday and Friday.

We wish to draw to your attention the desirability of securing polio shots, particularly since Detroit is experiencing such a high incidence of polio this year. Our student body draws heavily on the metropolitan Detroit area, and measures to prevent an outbreak of polio at Eastern should be taken immediately.

The charge for the polio shot at Health Service remains at $1.00.

McKenny Bookstore

TO THE EDITOR:

The bookstore situation in McKenny Hall at the beginning of each semester should be corrected.

The space in the bowling alley is inadequate. Considerable time is wasted in the struggle to find books and what seems like an endless wait in the line behind the cash register. Nerves become frayed, and confusion reigns.

The most effective remedy for this situation would be to change the location of the bookstore during this rush period. There simply is not enough room in the portion of the bowling alley which is used to accommodate nearly 5,000 students who purchase about six books each, or about 21,000 books.

If moving the books to a place larger than the bowling alley of McKenny Hall is not possible, a new system should be worked out.

Perhaps a system similar to the one used by the University of Michigan would prove more efficient. The students could order their books when they register from a syllabus containing information prepared by teachers about books required in each particular course. The books could then be picked up all at one time in a container with the price previously computed. Under this system all books could be left in the regular bookstore.

Another possible remedy would be to schedule each class of students (freshman, sophomore, junior and senior) to purchase books. A time would be specified each day for each class. To insure proper functioning of this system, identification cards could be required at the door. Since the bookstore remains open until 8 p.m., sufficient time for each class could be provided. Under this system, the bowling alley would not be so filled at one time.

I am sure everyone who purchased books the week of September 22-26 will agree that a new system should at least be tried in order to correct the chaos in the basement of McKenny Hall every semester, for the only good point about the present system is the fact that it is only in effect for one week of irritation each semester.

Scholaships Offered To EMC Students

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the eighth class (1959) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1959, for their first year of graduate study.

President Eugene B. Elliott has named Prof. Milton Foster of the Department of English and Speech as the Liaison Officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these 1959 fellowships.

"Read the Paper!"

TO THE EDITOR:

Here at EMC, it is almost impossible for a student not to be aware of what is happening on campus. Why then, do we so often hear the old laments, "I didn't know anything about this!", or "Nobody told me!", in regard to the large number of events which daily take place?

Perhaps these students who "don't know" never read the Eastern Echo, our weekly campus paper. In addition to reporting on what has happened, the Echo publishes a calendar of coming events in the "What's On" column, and in the "Weekly Official Bulletin."

Off campus students need only to take note of our many strategically placed bulletin boards, with their colorful posters, invitations-to-attend, and pertinent notices, in order to keep themselves informed.

Instructors further cooperate in this matter by reading in class bulletins which are of general importance or which they consider to be of special value to their particular classes.

With all of the above-mentioned devices for informing the student of campus activities, in addition to many other means, such as pamphlets, personal letters, and the various means of communication within the residence halls, it seems reasonable to conclude that, if the poor student whom "nobody told" is in the dark, it's his own fault.

Commuters Need Lunching Spot

TO THE EDITOR:

A pleasant, quiet spot in which to eat is desirable to many people. Commuting students at Eastern who wish to carry lunches are not provided such a place.

The grill in the Union basement is the designated place where a carried lunch is to be eaten. This place is fine for those who enjoy the blare of juke-box music or who do not object to eating from a cluttered table. The others who must carry lunches may eat in their cars or at Starkweather Hall.

The cars are unsatisfactory during warm or cold weather; Starkweather is available to only a limited number of students at lunch time unless the dining room has been reserved for other group meetings.

Many students and faculty members do bring lunches into the cafeteria in the Union knowing they are violating a building regulation and risking the deserved embarrassment of being asked to leave.

Valid reasons exist for limiting the cafeteria's use to those who purchase lunches; tables are often filled, especially at the twelve o'clock lunch hour. The fact that the cafeteria operates as a liability may be due in part to lunch carrying commuters. This privilege is taken advantage of by students and faculty members who bring lunches into the cafeteria.

For those who must carry lunches, whether for economic reasons or by choice, let's have a clean quiet place provided where they may eat.

"Registration Easy"

TO THE EDITOR:

Being a former student returning, I was registered at the same time as many of the freshmen. I found myself wondering what they were thinking as they went through the various phases of registration.

I don't suppose they realized how simple registration is in the new fieldhouse compared with what it was when it was held in the gym.

Things are more spread out in the fieldhouse; thus there is less confusion. Everything seemed to run like clockwork. There was only a very brief pause at each station.

The step that I dreaded the most was one with which I was pleasantly surprized. I. D. pictures were taken immediately. As an entering freshman, I distinctly remember standing in line in the Arts Building for a full two and one half hours for this purpose.

Figuring out a workable class schedule was as confusing as ever; however, there did seem to be much more opportunity to discuss problems with the advisors.

The time between completing my class schedule and leaving the building was less than ten minutes. The total time, without having preregistered, was three hours. Comparing this with the seven or eight hours it took before in the gym, the Arts Building, and Pierce, it's obviously a great improvement has been made.

LETTERS WELCOMED

The Eastern Echo welcomes well-written letters to the editor on subjects of interest to the campus. These should be typewritten and may be submitted at the information desk at McKenny Hall.

Praises Registration

TO THE EDITOR:

Registration at EMC was very commendable this fall. The IBM system not only eliminates much tedious manual labor for office personnel, it greatly reduces the filling in of multiple forms by each student.

A nearby university employs the IBM system in processing fee cards only. The student is required, in addition, to complete a lengthy Dean's card, a 14-part "railroad ticket" (registration blank), plus individual activity and class cards. On the "bus ticket" (activity card), one section is a "letter to the parents." The usual comment: "This is the thousandth card I've filled out today!"

One feature at this university has much to recommend it, however. Every "stop" is indicated by a large lettered sign, and chicken wire fencing leads each student "one-way" to the correct station. This eliminates much confusion.

To the registration officials I say keep up the good work, and may your progress set a standard for all at EMC.

Sincerely,
Doug Brown

Downing Holds Elections; Makes Plans for "Dad's Day"

Vacancies on Downing Hall's house council were filled by elections September 29, with four new members named by residents.

Elected to the council were Carol Fox, social chairman; Erroane Conley, student government representative; Nancy Glasson, sophomore advisory board member and Luella Bishop, WRA representative.

The 40 members of the council, along with advisory board members and Marilyn Saari and Barbara Toth, resident assistants, were honored at a dinner Wednesday by hall residents.

While welcoming parties and 'ABC teas' for new freshmen are high on the list of current activities for hall residents, committees are already at work for Homecoming activities and for a new activity on campus — a Downing Dad's Day, scheduled for November 1.

Young Democrats to Meet Thursday and Plan For Inter-Party Debate

The first meeting of the Eastern Michigan College Young Democratic Club has been set for next Thursday, October 9, according to club officers, who invited all EMC students to attend.

In the absence of any other active political club on campus this semester, they said, all students interested in politics are invited to meet and participate in Young Democratic Activities regardless of their political affiliations.

One of the group's first projects in this campaign year will be a symposium of candidates of different political parties on campus. The club is also planning a variety of other events connected with the current election campaign.

Thursday's meeting — at which membership blanks will be available — is set for 7:30 p.m. in the McKenny Hall general lounge.

'Photography for Science' is Natural Science Club Topic

The EMC Natural Science Club will have a meeting October 8 at 7:30 p.m. in 103 Sherzer Hall. Photographic technique in taking slides and their use as visual aid in teaching will be demonstrated by Robert Schauer.

Wednesday's meeting should be of special interest to those interested in natural science, teaching or photography, the group indicated.

Catalina Club to Hold Tryouts

Tryouts for the Catalina Club, the EMC synchronized swimming group, have been scheduled for 7:00 tonight at the pool in the basement of the gymnasium.

The club presents a swimming show to the student body annually.

Salute To Greek, Part II, Comes to EMC October 10

The all-campus Salute to Greek affair will enter its second phase on Friday, October 10, when sororities and fraternities not represented at the first dance will participate in a talent show.

Like its predecessor, the dance will be held in McKenny Hall. The All-Campus Social Committee sponsors both events.

Winners of competition in Part I were Gail Ponte, Alpha Xi Delta, and Phi Sigma Epsilon, runners up.

Chess, Anyone? EMC's Club Hosts Challengers Tuesday

The Huron Valley Chess Club — one of the state's strong clubs in this field — will be hosted by the EMC Chess Club at a meeting Tuesday, October 7, in McKenny Hall.

Any student interested in joining the EMC club or in viewing the match Tuesday night may attend the meeting. It begins at 8:00 p.m.

Study Helps

Dean Crane pointed out that, like most other colleges, EMC is also concerned about the high caliber student who should be making good grades but for some reason is not. "Sometimes this type of student flunks out because he just doesn't know how to go about his college work; always before he's gotten by without really working. We hope the study guide will help in this respect."

Another use of the booklet will be in special dormitory discussion groups held periodically by the 23 undergraduate student counselors.

Residence hall counselors are expected to promote higher scholarship standards through interhall competition and the posting of dormitory grade averages. This semester a cash award of $100 for outstanding scholarship and citizenship will be given to a male student selected by this student counseling group.

"Today, students seem to be more and more concerned over grades," Dean Crane declared, "and we're hoping the new guide will aid them here. It seems fairly clear that success in college is probably half due to ability, but the other half is application."

Teaching Needs at High Level; 10,500 Requests Reach College

More than 10,500 requests for school teachers or administrators were received last year by the EMC Placement Office.

Mr. Richard Nisbet, Director of Placement, said that about three fourths of the calls were for teachers in the elementary grades.

The Placement Office was able to place 522 graduates in school positions — 217 as elementary teachers, 294 as secondary school teachers, and 10 on the administrative level.

Mr. Nisbet noted that the greatest increase over the previous year was in requests for teachers of the mentally retarded. More than 500 calls for this type of teacher were received last year, compared to 200 in 1957.

In the field of special education, which includes the teaching of physically and mentally handicapped children, the number of requests jumped from 400 in 1957 to 1000 in 1958.

Most of the EMC students who located teaching positions did so through campus interviews with school system representatives. Forty-seven schools sent representatives to interview January 1958 graduates, and 125 schools sent representatives in the spring.

In the fall of 1957, twenty-four business and industrial firms came to EMC to recruit employees. Twenty-eight firms sent representatives in the spring of 1958.

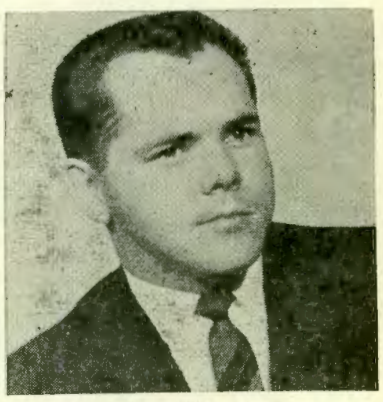
FIRST OF A SERIES

EMC's Student Council Is Active, Busy Organization

by Jeri Madalinski

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles about student organizations and activities at EMC.

Bridging the gap between the student body and the administration, the student council here at EMC is the students' voice in college affairs.



Joe Rippetoe

Not only does the Student Council handle discipline problems, such as what is to be done with a student who is caught cheating on an exam, but it also attempts to build up the status and coordinate the various organizations on campus which help to enrich the students' extra-curricular activities.

Currently, the office of president is being filled by Joe Rippetoe. The posts of vice president, secretary, treasurer, and corresponding secretary are being filled by Tom Butts, Carol Hayes, Dave Ouelette, and Pat Gerow, respectively.

The council, which holds elections in the spring, is composed of one representative for each hundred students. The residence halls elect the number to which they are entitled, as do off-campus students.

The bi-weekly meetings are open to any interested student or faculty member. One of the current problems which is on the docket involves "suitcasing."

Speech Group Meets At EMC's Strong Hall

The Michigan Speech and Hearing Association held its fall conference at Strong on the Eastern Michigan College campus, with 75 members from all areas of the state in attendance.

Addresses by Dr. D. E. Morley on his Fullbright experience in Norway and by Dr. Edward Schuknecht of Henry Ford Hospital highlighted the conference which elected Mr. Walter Wend, director of special education for Monroe County, as the asociation's president.

The session ended with a tour of Rackham School and a preview of the new hearing evaluation laboratory, the school's newest addition.

Prof. C. W. Fulton was responsible for local arrangements.

E. M. C. Professor Authors Article

Prof. Albert Schaffer, of the Department of History and Social Sciences at EMC is the author of an article in the current issue of "Rural Sociology."

Entitled "A Rural Community at the Urban Fringe" the article reviews the effects fo growing industrialization on a community in the Piedmont region of North Carolina, outside the city of Greensboro.

Thinking Makes You Tired? -- It's All Your Imagination, Says Expert

Thinking hard takes virtually no more energy than not thinking at all, report college and university researchers who have been studying the human brain.

"New Light on How the Mind Works," an article by Lawrence Galton in the October Reader's Digest, reveals that solving difficult problems takes about the same amount of energy as sleeping.

Mr. Galton also reports that scientists at Long Island University discovered that one thinks more imaginatively lying down. When a person is standing, he thinks faster and more forcefully. A sitting position represents a compromise between the two tendencies.

A University of Massachusetts psychology professor, the article relates, suggests that "talking to oneself" may be a measure of intelligence. Verbal cues, although not always audible, are commonplace. Using the cues increases one's learning and reasoning power.

The tenseness students experience when "cramming" for exams is a by-product of concentrated mental effort, a Lehigh University psychologist reports. Tensions flow over the muscular system in "waves" during concentration.

Rushing Activties On Upswing For EMC Greek Organization

Rushing activities continued this week for a large number of Eastern Michigan College students concerned with pledging the score of Greek-letter organizations on this campus.

With a brand-new system in effect for the fall semester, both sororities and fraternities were busy holding get-acquainted open houses.

Two days of open houses were concluded last Thursday by sororities, and girls planning to continue rushing activities were to have submitted their names with a one dollar fee to the Panhellenic Council by Tuesday.

From now through October 27, open rushing, "that period of time especially planned and organized in which sororities seek new members and in which non-sorority women seek affiliation with sororities," according to the 1958 rush manual, will continue.

Invitational bids will be extended October 27 from 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m., and bid replies must be returned on October 28 between 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

On the fraternity scene, those organizations which have not yet held open houses will continue this week with these non-invitational functions to which all men interested in pledging are invited.

Other changes in the fraternity rushing setup this year, according to IFC President Paul Jensen. includes a raise of one dollar in the pledging fee to two dollars, and a second and third round of invitational open houses.

"These other open houses serve the purpose of getting the prospective pledges and active members better acquainted with each other," Jensen said.

PAUL JENSEN, president of EMC's Interfraternity Council, looks over plans for this year's pledging program.

Fraternity open houses for this and next week include Omega Psi Phi at 7:00 tonight in McKenny Hall; Arm of Honor, Friday night at 8:00 at the fraternity house; Pi Kappa Phi, Monday night at McKenny Hall, Alpha Gamma Upsilon, Tuesday night at 8:00 at the fraternity house; Tau Kappa Epsilon on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. at McKenny Hall; Kappa Phi Alpha on Thursday at 8:00 p.m. at the fraternity house; and Kappa Alpha Psi, next Friday night at 8:00 p.m. at McKenny Hall.

EMC Out to Avenge Last Year's Defeat to Youngstown University

Hoping to avenge last year's 13-6 loss, Eastern Michigan will face Youngstown University in a non-conference game under the lights.

Both teams won last week; Eastern downed their first conference opponent, Illinois Normal, 13-0, while Youngstown rolled over New Haven State 20-0. Fielding a young squad with only five seniors, Coach "Dike" Beede's Pequins will be out to improve last season's 3-6 record at the Huron's expense.

Youngstown has lost the services of Davey Kimmel, the speedy left half who last season broke the Hurons' back on a spectacular 81 yard jaunt around his own right end. However, in his place this season is speedster Raymond Carter who has been clocked at 9.8 in the 100 yard dash.

Eastern's hopes ride with a tough defensive unit plus an improving backfield. Carl Elliott, all conference tackle, who is expected to return to action, should strengthen the line, and John Kubiak will probably lead the team at quarterback.

While the Hurons survived the Illinois Normal contest without an injury and are expected to be at full strength for Friday's game, the heaviest man on the Huron's squad, 230 pound Joe Giuliani, has been lost for the remainder of the season due to a broken leg.

An Illinois Normal fumble on their 27 yard line in the third quarter set up Sam Holloway's 21 yard touchdown run around end. Eastern's second touchdown came with a one yard sneak by quarterback John Kubiak that climaxed a 76 yard march.

Huron Harriers Await Opener

Eastern Michigan's cross country team travels to Kalamazoo October 4 for the opening meet of the year, the Michigan AAU.

Coach George Marshall said that this year's team has more depth and should finish the season with a better record than the 1957 team.

In the AAU meet last fall the Hurons finished fourth, while they had a 1-2 record in dual meets.

At the IIAC meet, the hill and dalers finished fourth. Last year's squad was hit hard by the Asian flu as most of the meets were run at the height of the epidemic.

Returning team members are Doug Carroll, Gurney Beach, and Howard Reindel, captain. Promising freshmen include Tom Bleakley, Emery Gravelle, Mauri Jormakka, Eugene Jurkiewicz, nad Don Taylor.

Aside from the meets already planned, the team will run two practice meets with the University of Michigan.

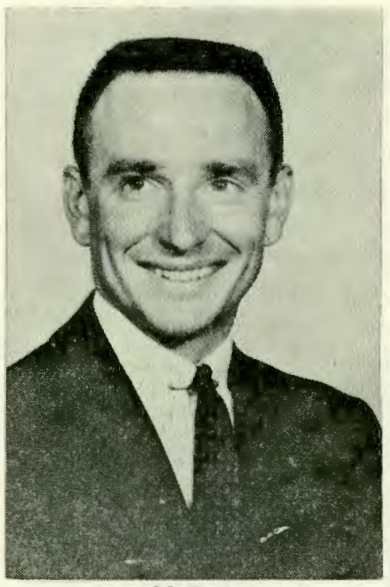
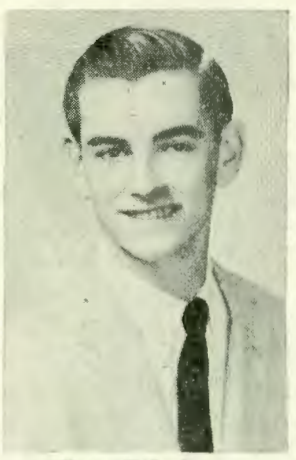
Name New Intramural Managers



Al Toth



Tom Fairris

Doug King

The appointment of Al Toth, a senior physical education student, as the Intramural manager for this year was announced this week. His assistants will be Tom Fairris and Doug King.

Besides his job as manager Al will also be in charge of the fraternity division. Tom will handle the independent division while Doug will be in charge of all campus events.

The fall program of the intramural department began on Monday of this week with touch football and tennis. Competition is being held in tennis for the fraternities on Mondays and Wednesdays. They also play touch football on Tuesdays and Thursdays, while independent teams are playing touch football on Mondays and Wednesdays.

An experiment is being tried this year in the independent league. Formerly, dormitory floors were urged to enter teams restricted to those living on those floors; this year all of the teams will be independently organized by interested persons.

Too early?

Well, perhaps.

And yet, when she reaches college age, will she be too late? Too late to get the kind of higher education so vital to her future and the future of her country?

It all depends.

By 1967 the number of students seeking college entrance will double. Even now, classrooms are overcrowded. Faculty salaries are so low that many qualified people must leave college teaching. All this adds up to a serious threat to the ability of our higher educational system to produce thinking, well-informed graduates.

In a very real sense, our personal and national progress depends on our colleges. They must have help in keeping pace with their increasing importance to society. Help the colleges or universities of your choice.

Sports! Active Or Passive?

by Paul Will

Do you prefer to watch sports events, or would you rather take part in them? Why?

This question was asked recently of a cross-section of American college students by Associated Collegiate Press National Poll of Student Opinion. The results showed that, in general, college students prefer taking part in sports rather than just watching.

This trend was strongest among the men, who favored participation by 65%, while the coeds were just about evenly divided on the question.

As one typical coed who preferred to watch put it: "Most really active sports events — such as basketball, baseball, football — involve men."

Another coed remarked that she prefers to participate because it's "more fun." But she quickly added ". . . unless you have a date to the game, or something."

A modern-minded Wayne State University freshman likes to participate because "you can do it yourself, and enjoy doing it."

One senior coed gave as her reason for watching that she had fallen into the role of a typical American.

Perhaps the frankest answer came from a senior at Wayne State; his reason for participating: "My ego needs inflating."

LAST WEEK'S FOOTBALL RESULTS

Eastern Michigan 13, Illionis Normal 0
Southern Illinois 19, W. Virginia State 0
Western Illinois 6, Bradley University 6
Eastern Illinois 6, Austin Peay 21
Central Michigan 19, Hillsdale 13
Northern Illinois 27, Beloit College 6

GAMES THIS WEEK

Eastern Michigan at Youngstown (Oct. 3)
Illinois Normal at Central Michigan (Oct. 4)
Western Illinois at Southern Illinois (Oct. 4)
Eastern Illinois at Northern Illinois (Oct. 4)

Two games highlight this week's IIAC action. Central Michigan, fresh from a stunning victory over Hillsdale, faces a weak Illinois Normal squad.

Southern Illinois opens their league competition against Western Illinois. The Salukis of Southern, who are rated as one of the conference powerhouses, are expected to find a tough opponent in Western.

Intramural Sports Program Begins

Students interested in bowling, tennis, and golf will have the opportunity to compete with other students through the intramural program.

A bowling team which represents McKenny Hall and which will bowl against other colleges is now being formed. All men who carry an average of 160 or better are urged to try out.

Competition among those interested, using the total pin count from a series of 12 games, will decide who will comprise the team. Bob White in Brown Hall and Al Seibert in Munson Hall are in charge of the program.

Entries are now being received in the Intramural office in the West Gymnasium for the All Campus Tennis Tournament, which will begin Wednesday, October 8. This will be a single elimination tournament involving single matches only. Entries close at 5:00 p.m. October 7.

A combination All Campus and Fraternity Golf Tournament will be held Saturday, October 11, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the Ann Arbor Municipal Golf Course. Individual winners will be determined on the basis of 18 hole medal scores. Fraternity team scores will be based on the total of the two best men. Entries must be received in the Intramural office by 5:00 p.m. October 9.

Where do great ideas come from?

Every major advance in our nation's civilization, from the days of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, has been guided by men of vision—minds equipped by education to create great ideas.

So, at the very core of our progress is the college classroom. It is there that the great ideas of the future will be born. That is why our colleges and universities are of vital concern to every American. Hampered by lack of funds they are doing their utmost to raise their teaching standards, and to meet the steadily rising pressure of enrollment.

They need the help of all who love freedom, all who hope for continued progress in science, in statesmanship, in the better things of life. And they need it now!
